Kent Kieseey began his design career at Marshall Field's State Street store over thirty years ago. His self-described style is "colorful, traditional, and continental, with contemporary 21st-century overtones." Among his favorite items are Art & Style's "Perroquet Sconce" and "Chinois Candelabras." Both of these gilded bronze pieces from France exemplify his design style and add personality to the spaces he creates.

While he may lean toward classical pieces, Kent is adept at combining shapes and styles of more modern furnishings to complement them. The "Firenza cabinet" by Manheim Ruseau and the "Regent Sofa" from J. J. Custom Upholstery are his choices to bridge the classical and modern. "Sumptuous and sophisticated simplicity," sums his design philosophy.
