Brent Comber

The Shattered tables are a chip off the old block. Available in four standard sizes and left unfinished, they're made from logs of Douglas fir that have been hand split and assembled without any discernible pattern—no two are exactly alike. 1657 Columbia Street, North Vancouver, BC, Canada V7J 1A5; 604-980-4467; brentcomber.com. circle 551

Manheim-Ruseau

Modeled after the work of the 20th-century San Francisco craftsman John Dickinson, the Dickinson cabinet stakes an imposing presence; after all, it stands 10 feet tall. Made of solid wood, it comes in a range of finishes, including oak with lime oak finish. 13736 Beta Road, Dallas, TX 75244; 972-387-4578; manheimruseau.com. circle 555

Softcare Innovations

Germs Beware: the Infection Control headwall for healthcare environments is designed to fight the toughest bugs around. Featuring seamless, thermoplastic foil surfaces that minimize the places where germs can hide. It is available in 10 finishes—Hard Rock Maple has a built-in antimicrobial agent. Curved cabinets allow for easy nurse access. 675 Davenport Road, Waterloo, ON, Canada N2V 2E2; 800-342-8562; softcarein.com. circle 552

Jofco

There's no messing around with the inForm meeting and training tables: they quickly fold down and nest for easy storage. Their angled and cast aluminum legs support tops in six lengths, two widths, and a range of laminates, and maple, cherry, and walnut veneers. Corner and wedge connectors link them together, while a top access raceway provides for table-to-table wiring. P.O. Box 71, Jasper, IN 47547; 800-235-6326; jofco.com. circle 554

Case

The Cross coffee table features two interlocking, aerodynamic-looking legs, in natural or wengé stained oak, that support a rectangular glass top. Through Design Within Reach, 225 Bush Street, San Francisco, CA 94104; 800-944-2233; dwr.com. circle 553
